KING EDWARD IS REPORTED DYING

Was Operated On This Morning, and May Not Survive.

LONDON IN PANIC

Coronation Is Postponed Indefinitely, and Great Anxiety Felt for Result.

IT IS SUDDEN NEWS

London, 6 p. m.—At six this evening the physicians issued the following bulletin: "His majesty continues to make satisfactory progress and has been much relieved by the operation."

London, 5 p. m.—At 5 p. m. it was unofficially announced that the king's condition was extremely critical. The operation had been postponed longer than it should have been and the chances of the recovery, are according to high authority, very remote.

The worst may happen in the early hours of the morning. The doctors have requested the royal family to remain in the palace at night.

London, June 24.—It has been officially announced that the coronation of King Edward and Queen Alexandra will be indefinitely postponed. King Edward is too ill for the ceremony to proceed.

Is Very Ill

The court physicians this morning announced that the King was suffering from perytiphlitis and that an operation had been performed to ease him of his pain that had been successful.

Announced Officially

The announceemnt of his majesty's illness was contained in an official message signed by his physicians. After stating the nature of the king's disease, the message read: "The king's condition on Saturday was so satisfactory, it was hoped his majesty would be able to go through coronation ceremony. Monday evening recrudescence became manifest rendering a surgical operation necessary today.

Coronation Postponed

Soon after the announcement was made public, it was officially announced the coronatoin would be postponed. The news that something was wrong with the king, spread at first as a rumor on the stock exchange, about noon. It then ran like wild fire throughout the city. Half an hour later confirmation of it came in the form of an official bulletin from Buckingham palace.

Operation Performed

At noon an operation was performed on the king. It was successful, the king regaining consciousness soon after it was performed and then fell asleep. In the streets of London consternation is depicted in every face. Strangers and Londoners alike are grouped excitedly discussing the bad news. Papers are selling at any price and news boys being almost mobbed.

London's Poor Remembered.

The king has expressed a desire that the Lord Mayor see that the coronation dinner to London's poor is not postponed, but all the other celebrations in London must be postponed.

In House of Commons.

In the House of Commons, this afternoon, the Government leader Balfour, in announcing the operation, said: "Everything is going on as well with the king as is possible, but his condition is undoubtedly serious and grave. I do not intend to increase public alarm by adjourning.

No Date Set.

No date for the carrying out of the coronation ceremonies has been indicated. It is feared weeks will elapse before the king will be in a fit condition to undergo the strain, even now when it is known the operation was successful.

Business Suspended.

Business throughout the city is practically suspended. It was nearly one o'clock when the news reached the huge crowd that had gathered outside Buckingham palace to watch the arrival of the foreign envoys for their reception by the king.

Crowd Paralyzed.

It was quickly noticed the envoys staid for a few moments only and ugly rumors were started. When this was followed by the official announcemen of the illness and operation, the crowd seemed paralyzed.

Perityphilitis, the disease for which King Edward is undergoing an operation, is according to Dr. Sutherland, to all practical purposes, identical with appendicitis. Typhilitis is an inflammation of the caecum, which is that part of the large intestine at which the small intestine is attached and also the veriform appendix. An operation is no more serious for typhilitis than for appendicitis unless there should be some obstruction or perforative ulceration. The trouble is doubtless the direct result of the early excesses of the king.

The chairman of the republican County Committee has has refused to issue certificates for the LaFollette delegates and will issue those for the Stalwarts elected at the regular convention.

UNIVERSITY DEAN MEETS HIS DEATH

Prof. John B. Johnson, Head of Engineering School, Accidentally Killed.

FELL FROM WAGON

While Driving a Load of Furniture to His Summer Home in Michigan.

HE DIES INSTANTLY

Fennville, Mich., June 24.—Prof. J. B. Johnson, dean of the college of engineering in the university of Wisconsin at Madison, was instantly killed this afternoon by falling from a load of household goods that he was moving to his summer residence near Pier Grove. A wheel of the heavy wagon ran over his head crushing it. He leaves a widow and three children.

Dean Johnson was elected head of the college of engineering on Jan. 17, 1899. The place was created at that time. He was then professor of engineering at Washington university of St. Louis, Mo. For many years he had been recognized as an engineer of high rank, and was president of the society for the promotion of Engineering Education. He was professor in the St. Louis institution for sixteen years prior to going to Madison.

High Rank as an Engineer

He was fellow and past vice president of the American association for the advancement of science. For a considerable time he was president of the Engineers' club in St. Louis.

His addresses on engineering subjects and his magazine contributions have been widely reviewed and commended. He appeared in lectures before Wisconsin university students a number of times prior to his coming appointment at the institution. He was prominent in Unitarian church work, being president of a Sunday school at Madison.

Sorrow felt at Madison

Madison, Wis., June 24.—The news of the death of Dean Johnson of the college of engineering came as a shock to those connected with the university of Wisconsin. President Birge paid him the following tribute:

"The news of the death of Dean Johnson comes with so great a shock to us that it is impossible to estimate fairly his work for the university. We think of him still as active and eager in the service of the institution. No words can overrate the importance of the work which he accomplished in his short stay here. He found the college of engineering lacking organization, but with an able and devoted faculty ad ready for a rapid advance. He organized the college, winnig the enthusiastic support of the faculty, and the hearty affection of the students."

CHAIRMAN BRUCE WARNS DEMOCRATS

County Chairman of Milwaukee Democracy Tells Them Not to Vote at Republican Caucuses.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 24.—In view of the attempt of the LaFollette politicians to draw in all "Fair-Minded Democrats," for voting purposes at the republican caucuses to help nominate their candidate, County Chairman W. G. Bruce has issued the following statement to all democrats in Milwaukee county.

This warning or suggestion will apply all over the state where the LaFollette howlers are using democrats to show the sentiment of the minority. It follows:

"It has been charged by the press that the Republicans in this county are attempting to draw Democrats into their conflict which is waggin so fiercely that in the nature of things the contending factors are no doubt seeking to avail themselves even of their friends in the democratic ranks.

"While the number of democrats who could be tempted to participate in a republican caucus may be small, it is nevertheless important that even this small number refrain from becoming a cat's paw for any faction in an opposition party.

participate in a Republicanctaoidniu

"No democrat can consistently participate in a republican caucus. It is a breach of party allegiance. But were this not so, party expediency also forbids such an alliance. By gainin gth f riendship of one faction you invite the increased hostility of the other. By voting at the Republican caucus you deprive yourself of the right to vote at the democratic caucus. You further deprive your party of your choice in shaping policies and naming candidates for the fall campaign.

"A dignified neutrality should be adopted by every loyal democrat. Such a course is not only in keeping with sound party policy, but will command that respect to which the democratic party as a whole is entitled."

QUEER METHODS USED IN DANE

Expose of Last Caucuses as Run by La Follette and the Democrats.

WILL INVESTIGATE

Frauds of the Election of Delegates Will Be Aired Before the Public.

WAS BOLD TRICKERY

Madison, June 24.—At a meeting of the Stalwarts held here last evening it was decided to contest the election of the LaFollette delegates from Dane county. Evidence of fraud and the wholesale voting of democrats at the recent caucuses has been discovered

Not Registered

In all three of the assembly districts gross irregularities as to voting and unregistered men has been found in all of the county and city precincts.

In the Second ward sixty of the voters were not registered and they were allowed to vote without filing affidavits.

In the Third ward the caucus officers were not sworn and non-registered persons voted.

Eli Pederson Case

Evidence is also at hand that Eli Pederson went among the farmers of Norwegian birth and showed them what purported to be a letter from Herman Dahle, the congressman whom LaFollette turned down, saying that he (Dahle) and LaFollette had made up their differences and that he was to go back to congress and that his friends were to vote for LaFollete delegates. Senator Spooner's name was also brought into the case by saying that he approved of the re-election of LaFollette.

This was a gross mis-representation of facts and will also be thoroughly aired and the delegates from the town of Primrose where the deception was played investigated.

LOCAL VEGETABLE MARKET GOOD

Grocers Say That Despite Rains and Hail, the Market Gardens Prosper, Except Fruits.

Local grocers pronounce this year fully up to past years and in some respects superior to last year so far as the quality and quantity of the farm produce is concerned.

Eggs and peas and beans are rather scant, but old potatoes are at present a drug on the market while the line of green groceries furnished is all that could be desired.

Eggs Scarce

The high price of meat has largely increased the demand for eggs and in addition to that the prices brought by poultry coupled with the cost of feeding has led many farmers to kill their hens rather than keep them for laying purposes, and several dealers report difficulty in obtaining sufficient eggs to meet the current orders.

Rains Hurt Crops

Heavy rains and hail have practically ruined peas and beans. Outside of this the green goods are excellent in quality and there is no difficulty in obtaining all that are desired.

Fruit Scarce

Hail with last year's drought have wrought havoc with strawberries according to George Kellogg & Sons. One day last week they were able to pick over fifty crates from the vines and on the next they could furnish barely one-fifth of that quantity. The market price raised accordingly.

New Potatoes

Up to the last few days the only new potatoes have been from outside producers but several bushels have lately been brought in by farmers near Janesville as an indicator of more which they expect to furnish. They are rather smaller than usual.

Truck Wagons

The farmers trucks are doing a lively business in selling from house to house, but it does not interfere materially with the trade of the grocers to whom they have delivered their goods before starting out upon their routes to dispose of the remaining stock.

'BALKY HORSES MAKE MUCH FUN

Waltz and Gavotte Around in Truly a Circus Style, to the Amusement of All.

Monday evening was favorable for fractious horses. A saddle horse from the Ryan stable was hitched to a light road wagon, and being unused to that system of traveling gave an extended exhibition of kicking and rearing before the driver, Mr. Ryan's son, was able to quiet the animal.

The exhibition took place on Main street in front of the stable where the horse is kept. A few moments later on the northeast corner of the Court House park considerable attention was attracted by a horse who, so the owner insisted, had never misbehaved before in its history, but who nevertheless seemed to know all the tricks of backing in concentric circles, standing and then backing again. A few handfuls of dust in the backer's ear soon started him ahead.

An Old-Fashioned Fourth of July.

These new-fangled notions are giving the boys
A queer kind of Fourth—one without any noise;
With speeches and picnics no patience have I,
And I pine for an old-fashioned Fourth of July.

Then we rose with the dawn, and the cannon came first—
We packed it with powder, till ready to burst—
And my! how the glass in the windows did fly
When it startled the echoes on Fourth of July.

We hitched up old Dobbin, and all tumbled in
The roomy old wagon—the fat and the thin—
Even grandma was there, and as chipper and spry
As any young maiden the Fourth of July.

We went to the barbecue—who cared for showers
When the feast was a-flutter with banners and flowers;
And if down came the rain in the midst of it, why,
It was part of an old-fashioned Fourth of July.

The rackets and pinwheels and fire crackers, too,
At evening all joined in the hullabaloo,
And Washington rode on his horse in the sky—
A figure in flame on the Fourth of July.

The band marching out in their uniforms gay
Struck up by the light of the bonfires to play
The Star-Spangled Banner and Sweet By and By,
And so ended a glorious Fourth of July.

REGULAR COMMON COUNCIL MEETING

Pass Appropriation for Parks—Decide on Water Mains and Adjourn Until Monday.

The meeting of the common council last evening was short and sweet. Outside of Dr. Mills ordinance for the protection of the parks and the settlement of the sidewalk fight in South Second street, nothing of particular importance was transacted.

Mayor Richardson presided and all of the aldermen were present with the exception of Alderman Rice, who came in later and took his seat.

Damage Claim

The reading of the minutes was dispensed with and the clerk presented the claim of Hattie S. George for $50 damages for injury to her property at the corner of North Bluff and Prospect avenue, caused by water overflowing the gutters on account of a defective culvert. The claim was referred to the judiciary committee who later asked for more time to report.

The finance committee reported favorably on a batch of bills and the clerk was instructed to draw orders on the treasurer for the several amounts when there was money in the funds to pay them.

Will Lay Water Pipe

The fire and water committee reported that they had looked into the matter of extending the water main 500 feet on Highland avenue from Washington street and that the work would be done at once.

Build as They Like

The Highway committee handed in a report on the sidewalk question on South Second street. They were in favor of allowing the property owners to build sidewalks either at the curb line or at the lot line, when all the people in the block on both sides of the street were unanimous in the matetr. The report was adopted.

The clerk was instructed to prepare statements and schedules of the amount of work done in grading north First street and the amount due from each property owner, and a list of those who elect to pay the statement at once and those who do not. The clerk presented the list which was reported correct and adopted. A resolution authorizing the issuance of five $100 special street improvement bonds the first being due Nov. 1, 1902, the last in 1906 was adopted.

Money For Flowers

Dr. James Mills presented an ordinance for the protection of the flowers and shrubbery in the public parks which was given its first and second reading and under a suspension of the rules was given its third reading and passed. The ordinance fixed a penalty of not less than $3 nor more than $50 for violations of its provisions.

The park committee reported having hired Thomas Croft to look after the parks from May 1 at a salary of $40 per month. The action of the committee was confirmed.

Meet Monday

Alderman McLean moved that when the council adjourned it be until next Monday evening to consider the applications for saloon licenses. M. A. George was given permission to use the streets to move a building from the corner of South Jackson and Center streets to Union and Jackson streets.

Thes treet commissioner was ordered to build a brick crosswalk at the intersection of Galena and Franklin streets.

The street commissioner was instructed to use the dirt removed by the contractors from the west side of Milton avenue to repair Prospect avenue, Cornelia, Hyatt and Yuba streets. The council then adjourned until Monday June 30.

HOUSE TALKS OF WAR CRUELTIES

Grosvenor Compares Civil War Occurrences with Island Atrocities.

IS ABLY SECONDED BY MAHON

Pennsylvania Member Reads an Order to Shoot Andersonville Prisoners if Union Troops Got Within Seven Miles of the Place.

Washington, June 24.—Debate on the Philippine civil government bill warmed up in the house and henceforth promises to be of a much livelier character. The increased interest is due to the injection into the debate of a comparison of the cruelties charged to have been practiced in the Philippines with those which occurred during the civil war. The subject has been lightly touched upon before, but attracted little attention until Mr. Grosvenor (Ohio) revived the memory of the extremities to which Grant and Jackson were put during the rebellion.

Mr. de Armond (Mo.) spoke at considerable length in opposition to the administration's Philippine policy. Mr. Grosvenor vigorously defended the army in the Philippines. In no war in modern times, he declared, has there been less of brutality and retaliation than in the war in the Philippines. That would be the verdict of history. If everything that had been said of General Jacob Smith were true, he could find its counterpart on both sides during the civil war. He then proceeded to read a report from Gen. Grant telling of the arrangements he had made to carry desolation everywhere through the Shenandoah valley, to seize all men under 50 years of age as prisoners of war, to destroy crops and make the valley a "barren waste."

"Before Phil Sheridan got through he made it a barren waste," said Mr. Grosvenor.

Advocated Black Flag.

He then read from "The Letters of Stonewall Jackson," edited by his [illegible] a statement that Jackson believed that the black flag should be raised and no quarter given as the best means of resisting invasion and saying that he had urged this policy upon Lee. He also read a telegram from Gen. Beauregard urging the passing of a bill for the execution of prisoners. "By this means," the telegram read, "England will be stirred to action."

Mr. Mahon (Pa.) maintained that the Filipinos were not fit for independence. He read from official reports of the horrors suffered by the Union prisoners at Andersonville.

"Do not the official figures show," interrupted Mr. Richardson, "that a greater percentage of confederate prisoners died in northern than Union prisoners in southern prisons?"

"I have the official figures here," responded Mr. Mason; "I will put them in the record."

He read an order to shoot the prisoners at Andersonville if the Union army got within seven miles of the prison.

"If the North was justly indignant over the atrocities at Andersonville," interrupted Mr. Neville (Neb.), "why should not the American people now be indignant over the brutalities in the Philippines? Why parade the civil war horrors as an excuse? If the administration was directly responsible for the atrocities alleged to have been committed in the Philippines the Republican party should be swept out of power."

Neville for the South.

"You want the South to support the government in prosecuting the war in the Philippines," interposed Mr. Neville, "why do you now seek to besmirch the South?"

"I do not desire to besmirch the South," responded Mr. Mahon. "I only desire to show, as General Sherman declared, that 'War is hell.'"

At the night session Mr. Bartlett (Dem., Ga.) read from a report made by Charles A. Danna, assistant secretary of war, upon the conditions in the southern prisons, saying that the condition of the Union soldiers in the South was no worse than that of the confederate soldiers in the field. He also produced the figures from Secretary Stanton's report of July 16, 1866, showing that of 220,000 confederate prisoners in Union prisons, 26,576, or over 12 per cent, died, against 22,576, or about 9 per cent of the 270,000 Union prisoners who died in confederate prisons.

INCREASES HEAD TAX.

Immigration Committee Makes It $3 Instead of $1.

Washington, June 24.—Senator Penrose, from the committee on immigration, reported the general immigration bill. There are many amendments, in addition to the amendment changing the educational test. Among these is one increasing the head tax on immigration to $3 a head and extending it to immigrants coming in overland, which is to be paid by the transportation companies carrying the immigrants. The time for the deportation of objectionable immigrants is extended from one to three years after landing, and the transportation companies bringing in such objectionable persons are required to pay half the land transportation when the immigrants have left the seaboard. There also are increased restrictions on the importation of anarchists and insane and diseased persons, and also on the bringing in of contract laborers. Under the latter heading the influencing of aliens by promising work to them is prohibited.

FOR NICARAGUA.

House Conferees Will Make Strong Fight Against Panama.

Washington, June 24.—The opening conference on the isthmian canal bill led to active comment on the outcome of this important measure. There is no doubt that the House conferees will at the outset make strong insistence on the Nicaragua route as provided by the House bill. Messrs. Hepburn and Davey are earnestly in favor of the Nicaragua route, and they undoubtedly will stand by the House bill as long as there is any possibility of its selection. Mr. Fletcher of Minnesota considers the Panama route better than the Nicaragua. Statements made by the House conferees lead to the belief that the insistence upon Nicaragua will not be carried to the point of a permanent deadlock defeating all canal legislation at this session.

NAVAL APPROPRIATION.

Training Station for the Great Lakes Is Provided For.

Washington, June 24.—The conference report on the naval appropriation bill, which was agreed to by the Senate, was only a partial report. Many of the important amendments inserted by the Senate are still in controversy, and will be made the subject of further conference. The undetermined questions are all those relating to the increase of the navy, including the proposed additional torpedo boats and the point as to whether any of the new war ships shall be built in government navy yards, all the provisions for increase of staff and the amendment for the increase of midshipmen. Among the Senate amendments accepted by the conference are those providing for a naval training station for the great lakes.

TARIFF REBATES.

Ways and Means Committee Takes Steps Toward Revising System.

Washington, June 24.—The ways and means committee took the first step toward a revision of the drawback system as applied to the collection and refunding of tariff duties on imported raw material which goes into exported finished articles. The Republican members were a unit as to the commercial necessity as well as the political expediency of meeting demands in this matter, and as a result of a protracted conference held behind closed doors the subcommittee on customs was instructed to draft a measure which will give the relief asked for and at the same time guard the treasury against wholesale customs frauds.

LABOR LEADER FOR CONGRESS.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 24.—Fred R. Bosworth, a member of the Musicians' union and an active worker for organized labor in this city, has declared himself an independent Republican candidate for congress in this district.

Fortune Telling

does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—womanly health. There is many a woman whose future seems absolutely unclouded who is marked by her own condition for future disappointment and distress.

The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dross.

Womanly health may be retained or regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I have taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Miss M. Pyfe, of Orilla, Simcoe Co., Ontario, "and two bottles of the 'Pleasant Pellets' as you advised for congestion of uterus, ovaries, and weakness, and can safely say that your medicine has been the means of restoring me to good health again, which I had not had for over three years, until taking your medicine. I thank you very much for your kind and prompt attention to my letter asking advice."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets clear the complexion and sweeten the breath.

INDIANA ROADS CONFISCATE COAL

Officials Fear General Suspension of Work Among the Miners.

MEN MAY HAVE TO QUIT WORK

Stocks of Fuel are Running Low and Lack of Cars Makes It Impossible for Operators to Fill Their Many Orders.

Indianapolis, June 24.—The railroad companies are apprehensive of a general suspension of work among the coal miners and have been confiscating coal for the last two weeks. Word has been received at the state headquarters of the miners here that practically the same condition exists among the Illinois mines.

In the meantime manufacturers and dealers, who are also apprehensive of a general suspension of work, as a result of the convention to be held at Indianapolis in July, are trying to get a big supply ahead, but the railroads are beating them to it.

Unless the railroad companies move and unload the cars now standing on their sidings at Indiana mines and furnish more cars, the condition in Indiana will practically amount to a tieup within the next two weeks. The men will have to quit work because the operators will be unable to ship the coal for which they have orders.

DIFFER WITH MITCHELL.

Operators Point to Attacks on Property to Disprove His Claims.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 24.—Operatives here do not care to talk much about the statement of President Mitchell. Several officials refer to the paragraph in which Mr. Mitchell boasts of the good order prevailing through the region since the strike, and point to the burning of the fence at the Hollenback colliery and the trestling at the station colliery, the ambush at Dunyea, the shooting of a guard at Olyphant, the shooting into a nonunion man's house at Pottsville, the burning of a similar house here, the dynamiting at Hazleton, Saturday's riot at Shenandoah, and numerous instances of less serious attacks.

Speaking of one feature of the statement one mine official said: "The statement of Mr. Mitchell that the miners do not get enough pay is not borne out by the statement attributed to Secretary George Hartlein. He said: 'There is no distress among the men, no miner has touched his bank account, sold out building and loan association shares, or applied to the poor board for help.'"

It was stated on good authority that the Delaware and Hudson, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company, and the Scranton coal company will combine in an effort to collect men sufficient to operate one or more of their mines.

Employers Confident of Victory.

New York, June 23.—President H. M. Olyphant of the Delaware and Hudson company made the following comment on the statement of President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America, issued in reply to that of the operators in which the correspondence leading up to the strike was made public: "There will be no arbitration, that is certain. We will operate our mines again with the men that are on strike now. They will be only too glad to come back, and no strike leader will be able to keep them out."

Illinois Miners Reticent.

Springfield, Ill., June 24.—The state executive board of the United Mine Workers of America adjourned after being in session about ten hours, and the members from other cities returned to their homes. All of them absolutely refused to give out any information regarding the meeting.

There was no loss of life, but great excitement among the inmates. A serious panic was averted by prompt and persistent effort and only one employe was injured.

ANOTHER FIRE AT MADISON, ILL.

Second Visitation Destroys Large Part of Business Section.

Madison, Ill., June 24.—Fire caused by the overturning of a lantern in a stable wiped out a large part of the business section of this city. The damage is estimated at $200,000. Practically the entire population united in fighting the fire. A score or more of horses were burned to death.

Too Cold for Crops.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 24.—Unseasonably cold weather continues; overcoats and fires being rendered necessary. The seriousness of the crop condition has been further augmented by an inch and a half of rainfall within twenty hours.

Man Overboard.

Milwaukee, June 24.—While the steamer Racine of the Goodrich line was off Waukegan Sunday morning on her trip to this city from Chicago an unidentified man jumped overboard and was drowned.

Barge Burns.

Houghton, Mich., June 24.—A barge towing two consprts is reported burning eight miles off the Lake Superior ship canal. It is supposed to be the Leland. A life-saving crew has gone to the rescue.

Finds Lost Gold Mine.

Helena, Mont., June 24.—An old bed in Last Chance Creek, which produced $15,000,000 in gold, has been found by a well digger after thirty-five years' search. It may prove another bonanza.

Manley for Roosevelt.

Washington, June 24.—Another member of the Republican national committee has gone on record in favor of Theodore Roosevelt for the nomination to the presidency in 1904. Joseph H. Manley of Maine was asked if it was true that he had come to the capital to inflate the Elkins presidential balloon. "No, sir," said Mr. Manley. "I am for Theodore Roosevelt for President in 1904, and I came here at this time to pledge to him the Maine delegation."

No Bankruptcy Legislation.

Washington, June 24.—The bill for the amendment of the bankruptcy law, which has passed the house and is now before the senate committee on the judiciary, will not receive further consideration during the present session. A decision to this effect was practically reached by the subcommittee having the bill in charge, a majority having made plans to leave Washington within the next few days.

LABOR AND THE MARKETS.

Henry Clews, the Wall street banker, says some very true things in his last weekly letter, concerning the attitude of labor. After speaking of stock exchange conditions, he says:

"The chief drawback of course has been the coal strike, which might become a serious calamity if President Mitchell succeeds in calling out practically all the 350,000 miners in the anthracite and soft coal fields. Public sympathy will disappear if such desperate methods, involving widespread business derangement and discomfort, are attempted to gain unreasonable ends. The consequences of attempting to enforce excessive demands at all hazards without regard to public convenience are likely to be very injurious to the cause of organized labor in alienating public sympathy and lowering its prestige and influence, to say nothing of the losses it inflicts upon its own members. Labor has still to learn that it cannot avoid working under the same law of supply and demand that capital does, and that the same freedom and restrictions which capital must face are also imposed upon labor. Natural or economic law makes no class distinctions; it deals equal rewards or punishment to all.

The principal cloud in the business situation is the labor outlook. Costs of manufacturing have already risen so high and selling is so often done at a high figure, threatening to lessen consumption, that intelligent business men are exercising more caution in the making of future contracts. Production is rapidly increasing owing to new competition, and there is a general feeling abroad that high prices have reached their limit, and that very soon recessions will be necessary to keep capacity well employed. This expectations injects an element of doubt into the situation, which cats as a restraint upon general business. Perhaps this is wholesome, for there are no signs of diminution in the volume of business, and indications are that some recessions in values would stimulate sales and give opportunity to a lot of new enterprises held back by the high cost of establishing new plants. Needless to say, whith such conditions confronting them, employers generally do not see the way to increasing wages costs; hence the deterrent effect of present labor difficulties."

It is difficult to understand why intelligent labor leaders should encourage a wide-spread strike under present conditions.

The business of the country is inclined to be abnormal to the extent at least of being active, and extremely vigorous, conditions that cannot always last and that should be improved by every honest toiler.

Neither money nor labor create business, they are simply the agents through which the work is accomplished.

"Good crops, public confidence, outside markets and a net work of favorable circumstances are responsible for good times and when they come, capital and labor should work hand in hand for mutual profit.

AN INTERESTING QUARTETTE

Cleveland, Olney, Hill and Watterson, four sound money democrats of the old school, are an intersting quartette on the political stage at the present time.

The conservative wing of the democratic party realize that a concert of action is necessary to accomplish any thing in the way of party reorganization and yet these four representative men are divided into three factions and it is extremely doubtful if they get together.

Cleveland does not aspire to office. He has passed the age where ambition prompts to effort, that if successful, could add nothing to the honors already enjoyed. But he discovers in Hill a dangerous leader and so he is using every effort to defeat him by urging Olney to become a candidate.

Just what Watterson hopes to accomplish, does not appear on the surface. He is opposed to Hill, and very bitter in denouncing Cleveland. He has af free lance out for one who don't agree with him and yet his name is seldom mentioned in connection with the presidency.

The democratic party is not in an enviable position. The rank and file are given over to Bryanism and populism. They have the machinery of the party and it will be found extremely difficult to dislodge them.

Conservative democracy, all over the country, is in the minority and its leaders do not seem able to agree on any proposition.

If the republican party fulfills its pledges, it will have but little to fear in the next national campaign. The Philippine question will be disposed of before congress adjourns, the canal problem is practically settled. Cuba is in a fair way for permanent government, and the chances for a national issue are not encouraging.

The democratic quartette, who are attempting to reorganize the party, are handicapped not only by disagreement, but they are not in touch with the rank and file of the party. Mr. Cleveland is regarded as a statesman, but he is too cold to be popular with the masses. Mr. Hill is too much of a Tammany leader to inspire confidence, and Mr. Watterson is too erratic to ever win success as a leader. Mr. Olney might accomplish something with united support, but this will not be granted him.

The democratic national party is more split up than the republican party in Wisconsin, and that is demoralized beyond recognition.

COST OF SOUTH AFRICAN WAR.

It is estimated that the South African war cost England during the past three years $1,200,000,000 and that 250,000 men were retired from active employment.

This army of men will largely return to industrial pursuits, causing quite a revolution in the productive capital of England and possibly a little disturbance before the adjustment is completed.

While England suffered, Africa has not been exempt, and an era of rapid development will follow peace negotiations. The gold fields of South Africa were idle during the war. They are capable of producing more than $100,000,000 annually. There is an abundance of wealth in the dark continent and while civilization brings it to the surface, Africa will be redeemed as the result of war.

If there is any occasion for rejoicing or satisfaction over the Governor's victories thus far in the campaign, it is not visible to normal vision. The scheme to work "fair-minded" democrats, has been successful, but this will be rather uncertain support in November, unless the democratic party endorse him at their convention.

If the state has a caucus law that will hold water, it ought to be published in every republican paper, and rigidly enforced in every county that has not already voted. Democratic interference by invitation is a little monotonous.

The man who rocks the boat "for fun" succeeded beyond his expectations in Milwaukee yesterday. The boat was upset and the funny man and his companions were drowned.

Five hundred registered democrats in Dane county carried the caucuses for LaFollette and yet his organs are shouting about a republican victory.

If July and August make the corn, May and June have taken care of the grass and grain this year. Crops were never more promising.

The city of Eau Claire is having more trouble in locating a post office site that the towns along Rock River in coming to an agreement.

The city of Madison is finding it difficult to take care of 2500 convention guests. That will represent half the number in attendence.

It will hardly be necessary for the democrats to put up a state ticket. Most of them seem to be republicans this year.

Eau Claire county attempted to apply the unit rule in their county convention, but without success.

Wyeth, the Chicago colt, won the Derby and western turfmen are happy.

The Lake Shore boys appear to play golf.

PRESS COMMENT

The Elks of Oshkosh, are planning a water carnival for their visiting brethren. But water is not what the visitors will be looking for when they strike Oshkosh.—Green Bay Gazette.

Oshkosh Northwestern: The eternal fitness of things is again shown in the fact that the state Prohibitionists have selected a resident of Milwaukee as their nominee for governor.

Portage Register: The city of Madison cast 1,080 votes against La Follette and for Whitehead. And still we are being told that there are on republicans opposed to La Follette.

Racine Journal: Pure primaries as demanded by the governor are not practiced by him and his adherents, at least in some places, notably in Dane county. The other fellows must play fair but to the great reformer it is any thing to win out.

Milwaukee Journal: There are indications that if he had taken to it in earlier life "Henri" Watterson would have made a great writer of circus advertising.

Toman Herald: A vote for LaFollette delegates to the state convention means a vote for the retirement of Spooner, the ablest statesman Wisconsin has produced for many years and one of the ablest statesman in the country. How do you stand?

Green Bay Gazette: The slender victory for the half breeds in the governor's own home is a substantial victory for the stalwarts, who, when not fighting against such heavy odds in other parts of the state, are securing the large majority of the delegates.

Whitewater Register: To be consistent La Follette ought not to ask for a re-nomination this year; four years ago when Scofield was a candidate for reelection LaFollette opposed him with all his power and gave him no support after his re-nomination.

People who imagine that Milwaukee's fame rests altogether upon a popular foamy liquid will please take notice that Cora Beckwith, the aquatic expert who is known as the "Queen of the Water," has expressed regrets that she cannot stay and enjoy the city's beauty, which has features full of attractiveness for people who have a particular liking for water.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

Marinette Eagle: The fact that the Milwaukee Free Press, Marinette Star or the LaCrosse Chronicle, the papers controlled by the LaFollette-Stephenson combination, have never had one good word to say for Seator Spooner, is conclusive proof to any candid republican that the governor and his lieutenants are not in favor of the Senator's re-election. Isaac Stephenson's hatred for Senator Spooner is also too pronounced to admit of any doubt as to the standing of the Marinette half breeds on the senatorial question.

"What is the trouble?"

"Why, I just paid $50 for a 'genuine Panama, and then found a Connecticut trademark under the sweatband."—Philadelphia Record.

BRUIN AS FISHERMAN.

He Takes the Catch of Two Lads After Carefully Smashing the Stock of Their Gun.

Old hunters say that the black bear does a good deal of fishing at this season. It is said that carefully studying the sun, and approaching so that his shadow will not be cast upon the waters, bruin creeps cautiously up to where he sees the telltale fins, and dexterously throws the fish out of the water with a sweep of the paw.

BRUIN LAUGHED AT THEM.

A couple of lads came across a different kind of a bear the other day at St. Mary's lake, near Hull, Canada.

This one preferred having some one else do the fish catching for him.

The boys had got a good sackful of pike which they left near a stump while they amused themselves on a raft they had thrown together. They looked ashore after a time to see a big bear walking off with a bag of fish over his shoulder.

He paid not the least attention to their shoutings, having, as it transpired, taken the precaution of breaking the stock of their gun across at the grip before carrying off the fish.

PUBLIC IS AWAKENING

To the Fact That Pasteurized Milk Is Absolutely Necessary.

After many months of untiring efforts on the part of the Bower City Creamery company, the public is just beginnig to appreciate the true value of pasteurized milk. During the past two weeks the number of customers have nearly doubled. Recommendations from many of the leading physicians of the city have aided the South River street firm in placing many new patrons. Pasteurized milk is as pure as is possible to obtain it. After passing through the pasteurizing process there is absolutely no possible danger from germs. The promoters of the Bower City Creamery Co. have expended a large sum in promoting the local concern and with the great amount of good that they are daily doing on all sides there is no doubt that in time tney will receive the hearty support of the majority of milk and cream patrons. The cost of pasteurizing milk in Janesville today is no greater than what is being asked for impure milk.

KING

SECURES BETTER FIRE PROTECTION

IMMENSE PUMP IS COMPLETED

Janesville Machine Company Makes Valuable Addition to Automatic Sprinkler System.

Fairbanks, Morse & Co., of Beloit, are the makers of the new duplex "underwriters' rating" pump which has just been housed by the Janesville Machine Co. in a small brick building at the juncture of South River and Center streets.

1,000 Gal. a Minute

The specifications as detailed on the pump give it as 18x10x12. Its capacity is one thousand gallons per minute and it is capable of a speed of seventy revolutions a minute and will readily thrown four one and one eighth inch streams through smooth faced nozzles.

For Fire Protection

The machine which is automatic in action, is designed purely for purposes of fire protection, following closely the requirements laid down by the underwriters. The piston rods are of brass and it is constructed on a similiar scale throughout. It is now attached to the sprinkler system throughout the shops of the Janesville Machine company and it is believed that it will furnish absolute protection against any large conflagration.

Pumps From River

The fire system in the works has formerly been dependent upon a pump of a capacity of 250 gallons a minute which drew its water directly from a well in the engine house. By the new system water will be obtained from the river near the shops by a 12 inch intake suction pipe.

STRANGER HERE WAS FRIGHTENED

Chicago Man Was Greeted on All Sides by Red Cards—Mystery Soon Solved.

This week a Chicago agent arrived in the city and at once proceeded to canvass the residence section of the city. His first territory was on the West Side but here he continued work but a short time complaining that at nearly every house where he stopped he was greeted by a red card which he at first took to be a contagious disease warning placed there by the city health officer. Closer examination on the part of the frightened agent revealed the fact that many bright red cards were the Inman's Crystal Lake ice cards and that they were being displayed by Mr. Inman's many ice patrons. Physicians highly recommend the use of Crystal Lake ice for culinary purposes and for domestic use in general.

IN THE VALLEY OF THE SHADOW

Mrs. Merrill

Mrs. Willard Merrill, a former resident of this city died at her home, 95 Prospect avenue, Milwaukee, Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, after a long illness. She was sixty-nine years of age and had been a sufferer from bronchial trouble for several years. She had but recently returned from California where she had gone for her health but the best medical skill including X-Ray treatments proved to be of no avail in saving her life.

Deceased was born in Conway Mass., graduated from Mt. Holyoke seminary and later taught school in the Western Reserve in Ohio. In 1857 she was married to Mr. Merrill and accompanied him to Prairie du Chien, moving from there to this city where the family lived until about twenty years ago when they went to Milwaukee. During their residence here Mr. Merrill was a law partner of Judge Cassoday but he is now first vice president of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company.

Mrs. Merrill was a woman of lovely character and was actively engaged in philanthropic work, being especially interested in the Girls' Industrial school and other institutions of the same character. She was a member of the Immanual Presbyterian church. A husband and two daughters, Miss Jennie C., and Grace Merrill, are left to mourn her loss. The funeral will be held tomorrow.

FOR M'KINLEY FUND

Endless chain letters are being received in the city for a fund to be used to erect a monument in the McKinley cemetery lot at Canton, O. Judge Day of that city is the president of the movement.

Hopeless.

George Taggart, in Frank Leslie's Monthly for July.

Her eyes are blue as Heaven's blue,
Or bluer;
To know her is to sigh and sue,
and woo her;
And yet she fences for her heart
With all a master's subtle art;
Her nerves must be of steel a part,
And truer.

Dan Cupid wars with her each day,
Yet misses
The mark that should be easy prey
To kisses;
And thrice have I, on bended knee,
Prayed well the cause so dear to me—
She listens, smiles, and then the plea
Dismisses.

Cupid and I are both at sea,
Deploring
The fate that hinders him and me
From scoring.
'Tis cruelty indeed that she
Is adamant to such as we,
For we must now and ever be Adoring.

George S. Phelps and F. O. Leiser, of the University of Wisconsin, arrived in this city on Monday to solicit subscriptions among the alumni and friends of the state institution for the erection of a new club house for the use of the Y. M. C. A.

During past years the Y. M. C. A. at the university has rented a house which has been used for association purposes, but it is felt that it is time that a home should be built which would be the property of the organization. Twenty-nine large colleges and universities throughout the country have already built and obtained ownership of club houses, while the Madison school, larger than many others, has never attempted to own a building adapted to its needs.

Board of Directors.

On the board of directors of the proposed building are such names as Hon. J. B. Winslow, Prof. M. A. Slaughter, Prof. W. A. Scott, Mrs. C. K. Adams, Mr. W. W. Croper and Mr. C. F. Riley. Milwaukee men have been especially liberal in their offerings, among them being Charles Pfister, $5,000; E. P. Bacon, $2,500; Lindsay Brothers, $2,100; Fred Vogel, Jr., $1,000; F. A. Kiechofer, $1,000.

The Proposed Building

Up to the present time $23,000 has been raised of the $75,000, which the structure is to cost. It is to cover a ground space 64x145 feet and is to provide, in addition to all necessary offices and reception rooms for the Y. M. C. A. work, an auditorium with a seating capacity of 750 and rooms sufficient to accommodate eighty students living in the house.

Men Who Are Here

Mr. Phelps, who is representing this is a Minnesota graduate and at present is acting as the secretary of the Madison University association. Mr. Leiser, who is with him, is a student in the university.

APPLEBY INVITED TO REFEREE MATCH

THURSDAY'S GREAT CARNIVAL

Ex-Sheriff Would Make an Excellent Judge, and Prove Satisfactory to All.

Members of the Interurban Athletic association have extended an invitation to ex-Sheriff W. H. Appleby to act as referee at the boxing and wrestling carnival to be held at the Myers Grand opera house next Thursday evening.

Ex-Sheriff Appleby is a well-informed man on such matters and his decision would be satisfactory to all.

The coming show promises to tax the seating capacity of the Myers Grand and according to the program there promises to be all sorts of amusement. Those to take part in the carnival will arrive in the city from Milwaukee, St. Paul and Watertown tomorrow and Thursday.

A good sized delegation is coming from Beloit and Watertown and will occupy seats near the stage.

ANOTHER VICTIM FOR ROCK RIVER

Walter Kaempflein the nine year old son of the late Rev. Kaempflein, was drowned in Rock River this afternoon shortly before four o'clock. He fell out of a row boat into deep water. At the time of going to press the efforts to recover the body had proved unsuccessful.

Celebrate Anniversary

Last evening members of Badger Council, No. 223 Royal Arcanum and their families celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the order with pleasing festivities held in East Side Odd Fellows' hall. An interesting musical and literary program, included recitations by Ronald Airis and Hazel Herrington, piano selections by Walter Airis, May Morrissey, Edgar Kohler and Miss Carrie Baldwin, a vocal solo by George Paris and excellent addresses by Capt. Pliny Norcross and the Rev. J. T. Tippett.

Following the program ice cream and cake were served, several selections were given on a phonograph and a general social time enjoyed by those present.

To the delegates of Rock county republican convention. I wish to state that as a candidate for re-nomination for the office of county clerk, that I do not seek, neither have I sought the re-nomination, as a factional candidate, but simply as a republican and my past record in office.

BELOIT MAN AFTER MILL PROPERTY

WILL DEVELOP MANUFACTURIES

W. H. Wheeler Asks Janesville Cotton Company to Extend Option on Their Plant.

W. H. Wheeler of Beloit was in the city today in regard to the option held by him on the lower mill of the Janesville Cotton Mills Co. plant. The option expired yesterday without Mr. Wheeler making it good, and he is here today to meet the directors of the company and ask for a further extension of the franchise.

Mr. Wheeler claims he has spent a great deal of time and considerable money to bring this deal to a successful conclusion and has the matter well under way. He thinks he will be able to fix matters up in a short time longer so that the deal will be closed. The Indiana electrical firm that is anxious to locate here is ready to come any time. The plant, however is to large for their needs and it is necessary to get some other enterprise to take a part of the building to make the factory a success and it is this that keeps him from closing the deal.

The directors of the cotton mills are somewhat reluctant about giving him an extension of the option, as the price asked for the mill, water power and other property is exceedingly low.

They argue that it simply ties them up so they cannot do business with any other prospective purchaser as long as Wheeler holds an option on the plant. They are anxious to have Mr. Wheeler have the property but do not wish to tie themselves up for another 30 or 60 days.

The directors held a meeting at four o'clock this afternoon to talk the matter over and take some definite action.

DAVID T. LITTLER DIES AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

Well-Known Politician Passes Away at His Home in Springfield—Outline of His Career.

Springfield, Ill., June 24.—David T. Littler, for many years conspicuous in the Republican ranks in Illinois politics, died after an illness that had lasted more than a year. He came to Illinois when 21 years old from Clifton, Green county, Ohio, where he was born February 7, 1836, and settled in Lincoln. There for two years he followed his trade of carpenter, but took all the spare moments that he could find for the study of law. Mr. Littler was admitted to the bar in 1860, and shortly afterward was made a justice of the peace. He held this position two years and was then appointed a master in chancery. In 1866 President Andrew Johnson appointed him collector of internal revenue of the eighth Illinois district. He held this office till he decided to move to Springfield in 1868.

He was a brother-in-law of Richard J. Oglesby and always a stalwart Republican. In 1882 he was elected as a representative to the thirty-fourth general assembly from Sangamon county. He was re-elected in 1886 and served for several terms.

In 1892 he was defeated for the state senate against Ben F. Caldwell, present congressman from that district.

THE ESCAPE.

BY BARRY PAIN.

The desert was plainly, if sparsely, furnished with some sand, a dead camel and a traveler named Smith. There was also a horizon, with a sunset and a few vultures on it. The vultures were discussing the probability of Smith lasting out the night. Two to one (in eyeballs) was offered against it.

But five days before, in a fit of ungovernable irritation, Smith had hurriedly left the society of the English trader and the English missionary, in the white-walled, primitive village, and, mounted on his camel, had dashed wildly into the desert. A few hours later he had repented, and had been willing to return. But neither he nor the camel knew the way. Since then he had subsisted on three biscuits, a patent fire-lighter, and a bottle of coffee extract. The camel had had nothing except a piece out of Smith's coat and some sand; that was why the camel had given up subsisting. Smith made himself a couch of saddle-bags, with a pillow of dead camel, and gave himself up to reverie. An elderly vulture now offered three to one against Smith seeing the sunrise, and was taken twice.

In his reverie he recalled his past. It was considerate of him, because I particularly want to tell you about Smith's past, and this gives me the opportunity.

There was a time when Smith had been a happy man. Nay, more, he had been a solicitor; and now he was dying in a desert, starved and half mad, the victim of ping-pong. Yes, I mean it, ping-pong, or, if you prefer it, table tennis.

His native home (as you may have deduced from his name) was in sunny England. There he lived in a sunny suburb and in a sunny villa—electric bells and tiled fore-court—only needs to be seen. Pardon me, I lapse into the language of the house-agent's advertisement. He had never known the love of wife or child. He was unmarried. That is rather a pity, because it prevents this story from being as pathetic as it otherwise might have been. Still, one must speak the truth; but he had the love of an aunt. In that sunny villa he lived with his aunt, who also was unmarried, and the long winter evenings hung heavily on his hands, until the night when he brought back with him from the city the game of table tennis, or, if you prefer it, ping-pong. They became enthusiastic. He played badly, and she—a wiry, gimlet-eyed lady—played uncommonly well. Other villas procured the game of ping tennis, or, if you prefer it, table pong. They played every night, and also some afternoons. His game improved, and he grew to hate it as he had rarely hated anything.

Just as he had decided that he could not possibly bear it any more, it became popular again, and the second attack was even worse than the former. The heather was alight. All the sunny villas played the game, and invited each other to help at it. The conditions of life were arranged to suit it. They played it morning, noon and night; and, when they were not playing it, they were talking it. Smith reached a point when the mere sight of a celluloid ball produced nausea; he was tired of that game as he had never been tired of anything in the whole course of his life. In the interests of his own society he took a decided line.

He sold his practice, provided for his aunt's future, penciled her a hurried note, and left by express for anywhere. He had got to get to some place where the fatal game was not known. He tried France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Spain; he there found that many of the people to whom he had letters of introduction already played the game; the rest got it in as a special compliment to himself. Nearly frantic, he left for the remote and mystical east. He avoided those well-known centers which might have suffered from a tourist-borne contamination, and—there at last—in the insignificant, white-walled and barely civilized village of Stroonga Rhakit he knew what happiness was. The only two white men there—the English trader and the English missionary—had never even heard of the game. The three sat down to matador every evening, and his horrible mental obsession passed away, and all nature smiled.

But one day, while nature was still smiling, the tropical version of Carter Paterson deposited at the hut of the English trader a case containing a variety of gifts, sent to him by his friends at home. With eager hospitality he bade Smith and the missionary to dine with him that night.

It was a feast indeed. The tinned oxtail steamed fragrantly; the British champagne flowed freely; the mixed pickles smoked on the board. And subsequently Smith smoked with his feet on the mantelpiece.

"Come, rouse yourself!" said the trader; "we are going to play a game which has been sent me—a game that has won, I hear, great popularity in England. It can be played on an ordinary dining-table, and—"

With one unearthly yell of anguish Smith dashed from the hut and whistled twice for a hansom. There being no hansom, he took the nearest camel and fled far into the desert. It was there that a relief expedition found him an hour before sunrise. He was delirious. His right hand was clutched tightly, as if it had been grasping a racquet. His arm moved in convulsive jerks. He made inaudible observations, and then one word rang out clearly: "Deuce!"

"How truly horrible!" said the missionary, as he bent over him. "It is the first time that I have known him to use a profane word."

Smith opened his eyes wide and looked up at the missionary. With a last effort he murmured faintly:

"It's your service."

So it was. The elderly vulture chuckled.—Black and White.

He Hatched a Joke.

Dr. Theophilus Leigh, some time master of Balliol college, would be remembered, if only for the fact that he was Jane Austen's greatuncle.

In addition to this distinction he had an indefatigable wit—humor ran in the family—which kept alert until his death.

Two days before he died he showed himself an incorrigible punster. One might look for a causal relation, if his age, 90 years, were not enough to account for his death.

Some one spoke of an old acquaintance as having been "egged on to matrimony."

"Then may the yoke rest on him," said Dr. Leigh.—Youth's Companion.

No More Rear Cars.

As a woman boarded a New Haven train at a suburban station one morning she gave a startled glance at the brakeman, who stood near, and ejaculated. "This isn't the last car is it? I haven't been down since the accident, because I'm so nervous about the tunnel."

"You know, madam," replied the brakeman, comfortingly, "we don't carry the last car any more. We leave it at New Haven now."

"Oh, I didn't know that," responded the passenger, with a great sigh of relief. "I'm so glad!"—N. Y. Tribune.

Kodol Digests what you Eat

Dyspepsia Cure

Many digestive compounds and tablets are recommended to cure dyspepsia by digesting food with the pepsin they contain. Most of these possess merit, but they all fail in many cases, because pepsin digests only albuminous foods, such as eggs and meat. But we must eat more than eggs and meat; and some of the worst cases of dyspepsia are caused by indigestion of fats and starches and other foods which pepsin cannot digest.

There is one preparation that contains all the digestants. It is KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE, which digests what you eat, and has been used with remarkable success,—not a single failure to cure being reported from the many thousands who have used it.

J. E. Peabody, Pitcairn, N. Y., says: "The first dose of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure relieved my son of stomach and heart trouble, and four bottles of it cured him. I heartily recommend it."

PARLOR PASSING AWAY.

Apartment of State, Once So Popular, Is Everywhere Giving Place to the Living Room.

And is it true? Is the parlor doomed? Must it give way to the living room? That apartment cannot make good the loss of the other. Who does not remember the darkened glories of the old-fashioned parlor, which was seen at its best in the middle-sized town, village and country? Shut up the week through, sometimes nearly the year through, with blinds closed tight and lace curtains tied primly back; with its hair-cloth-seated chairs set in a line against the wall; a "rocker" ready to gallop in one corner, and a what-not in the other, ornamented with rice baskets, praying Samuels and family daguerreotypes and photographs; a center table, set exactly in the middle of the room, with a few handsome books and the large family Bible, the mantelpiece with vases filled with crystallized grasses at either end, and odds and ends of strange things fitting up the rest of the space; who among the elder generation does not know it well? It was a room to be venerated.

And now—one sadly recognizes it to be, indeed, a thing of the past. Instead, there is the living room, that actually is a living room, where the baby's perambulator stands near the piano, where the work basket is on a convenient table (no one ever saw a work basket in a parlor); where there are plants, a writing desk; where the sun pours in as much as it may. It is indeed a living room. If one has space there is a reception room, to be sure; but every one understands that amounts to little—the caller and the friend are shown into the living room. To a person used to a parlor, no matter how long ago, a call in a living room hardly seems like the solemn function it used to be.

Very likely the change is for the better, but it is a revolution. The respectable poor used to stint themselves to maintain a decent parlor; now in model villages' model tenements they have lost this privilege. Take, for instance, Bournville, in England, the home of the Cadburys' great cocoa works. This is known as an ideal village. Some 370 houses have been built for employes, and not a parlor in the 370. Instead of that each family has a large, sunny, commodious living room, and they make the best of it.—Springfield Republican.

Virtues of Salad Oil.

Salad oil forms a most useful article of diet for delicate people. The invalid who cannot touch cod liver oil should be encouraged to use freely mayonnaise dressing, and in eating salad to pour over it a liberal supply of oil. In cases where the taste for this is not, it can generally soon be acquired. For some cases of debility and weak digestion small doses of oil will do wonders. Many people have been able to give up the almost daily use of drugs by taking instead a dessertspoonful of salad oil on going to bed. If the taste be disliked it can be taken with a little claret, which will quite disguise it. In the nursery salad oil should be used for rubbing into the chest—back and front—when there is any tendency to weakness of the lungs. The pores of the skin will absorb it readily, and it will be found to have a nourishing and strengthening effect.—Modes.
